When Grandpa Was A Boy . . .

Bridges like these were not uncommon. Throughout the countryside teams of horses rumbled over the wooden plank floors of covered bridges. Life moved much more slowly than it does today. Most people traveled only a few miles away from their homes during their lifetimes.

When grandpa was a boy there wasn't a great deal of time to go far from home. Stores were kept open 14 hours a day, six days a week. Farmers did not have the modern equipment to make their farm chores easier and to accomplish them faster. Generally speaking, vacations were confined to spending a few days with relatives down on the farm where food was plentiful and the spare room was waiting for visitors.

It is no longer true that most people travel only a few miles from home as grandpa did. Airplanes, buses, trains, and most of all the families' cars whisk vacationers across the miles. Paid vacations give American workers and their families, too, an opportunity to see the land of their birth or of their adoption.

Never have the efforts of American industry and its workers made possible so much paid vacation leisure.

It's vacation time. Enjoy yours to the fullest. Grandpa didn't have it so good.

Publications Editors Plan Chest Publicity

Marge Evans, editor of the Carolina Steel and Iron publication, presided over the meeting. Ed Broadhurst, public relations advisor for the Community Chest, was present to offer suggestions to the group.

It was decided that each company publications editor would assign himself a feature story on one of the local Chest agencies, visit that agency, make pictures if possible and write a first-hand account of the visit. These features would be interchangeable among the editors.

Charles Bittmann To Retire January 1, 1955

Charles Bittmann, treasurer of Cone Mills Inc., will retire from the company effective January 1, 1955, it was made known yesterday. Mr. Bittmann began work with Cone organization in 1900 as an office boy. Subsequently he worked on order records, in the traffic department and in the collection and remittance section. He began credit work in 1907 and was made credit manager of the company in 1917. In 1941, he was elected assistant treasurer and in 1944, treasurer.

During the many years that Mr. Bittmann directed and supervised the credit policies of Cone Mills, many of the company's customers sought his advice and counsel in financial matters and have expressed the opinion that he has always been of great help in guiding them through difficult problems and situations that required a solution.

In addition to his duties at Cone, Mr. Bittmann has been active in credit circles, maintaining close contact with credit men in the textile industry, and has taken a wide and active interest in a number of trade and credit organizations. He is a charter member of the Downtown Textile Credit Group, which was organized in 1929, serving as first vice president, 1930-1931 and president, 1931-1932. He served on the board of governors of the group from 1933 to 1952, and was elected an honorary member in 1953. He joined the Arkwright Club in 1917 and served on its board of governors from 1929 to 1932.

Mr. Bittmann has been a member of the New York Credit and Financial Management Association since 1907 and served on its board of directors from 1929 through 1933. He also served on the membership and legislative committees of this association. From 1929 to RECEIVES AWARD—Ralph Stephenson, left, and Corbert R. Myrick, employees of Edna Plant, Reidsville, recently suggested that a doorway be cut between the Spooler Room and Slaters Room to make easier the handling of crowded beams. These men received a cash award from Cone Mills for their idea.

Recreation Center At Camp Herman To Be Open Vacation Week

Camp Herman Recreation Center will be open every day during the vacation period, 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. for all water front activities, and 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Sunday. Families are urged to bring their picnic basket or box, and come out and spend the day. Tables are available on the campus for picnics.

Boating around the 22 acre lake, in all metal boats, equipped with new oars, will be a thrill to the young people and splendid experience in boatmanship.

The Recreation Center will feature swimming, fishing and aquatic sports. Those who don't care to go in the water will have access to comfortable reclining beach chairs, sun bathing, hiking, cook-outs and campus games, including horse-shoes, shuffle board, volleyball and ping pong. The grounds are ideal for youth, as well as adults, who like to wander through nature's wonderland on 150 acres of virgin forest, giving an opportunity to identify over 40 different species of trees, 14 different wild flowers, and at least 15 to 20 different species of birds. This offers an excellent opportunity for you to introduce your children to the many wonders of nature while they are at the height of their season.

Camp Herman Recreation Center is made possible by Cone Mills Corporation for their employees and dependent members of their families, and is operated under the auspices of the Cone Memorial YMCA.

Reservations should be made for large groups, such as church, fraternal organizations, departmental groups, schools and other organized groups, but for families, no reservations are necessary or required.

Everyone who uses Camp Herman is urged to help keep it clean, orderly, and attractive. Don't cut shrubs, flowers, or in any way destroy nature's gift to the camp, for others will come, and they too would appreciate seeing and acquainting themselves with all the good things that nature has so generously bestowed upon us.

The water front will be in charge of Claude W. (Dick) Weaver, and William Morgan Smith. Caretaker is Howard Nunn. Gustav Ziprik is in charge of camp operation.

Arts And Crafts

There is much interest being shown in the Arts and Crafts class for girls held by Mrs. Frances Funderburk at both "Y's" from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. There is oil, deck-all and enamel painting, sewing, gimp braiding, bamboo and glass bead stringing and shell craft.

All the girls are invited to come and take part in this summer activity at White Oak Y on Monday and Thursday and at Proximity Y on Tuesday and Friday.

The town tightwad, on his wife's birthday, sent her a check for a million kisses. A little annoyed at his thrift, the wife mailed him a card which read: Dear Jim—Thanks for the lovely check. The milkman cashed it this morning.

Cone Post Lists Legion Benefits

From time to time veterans ask the question, What has The American Legion done for veterans? Cone Post 386, American Legion, was organized in 1947 with 15 members. At the present time there are 57 members on their roster and at one time the Post had more than 100 members.

For the information of veterans Cone Post would like to point out several benefits The American Legion has been responsible for obtaining for veterans.

The G. I. Bill of Rights was conceived, drafted and piloted through Congress by The American Legion, as were the amendments to that piece of legislation.

It was the Legion that fought for and secured the legislation making possible increases in disability compensation for veterans.

It was the American Legion that spearheaded the drive to liberalize National Service Life Insurance.

Public Law 16 providing educational benefits for disabled veterans, is a result of Legion legislative effort.

These are but a few of the legislative successes of The American Legion at the Federal level. State legislation of benefits to veterans has been enacted at the insistence of The American Legion in every state.

What about the Community Level? The only way Cone Post has of contributing to various community betterment projects is with the money it earns from the projects it sponsors, such as lawn festivals, brunswick stews, donkey baseball games, etc. Whenever the general public supports one of the Legion projects they are really supporting the various community betterment projects at the same time.

Cone Post has donated more than $1,000.00 to the Polio Hospital, $100 to the Cerebral Palsy School, donations to the Greensboro Rescue Squad, $100 for T-shirts for midge baseball teams, for years sent eight underprivileged children to summer camp, sent large box of Christmas toys to European children, annual Christmas party for Polio patients, and many many other things too numerous to mention.

A paid up membership card which cost at Cone Post, $4.00 per year, gives to the bearer Legion clubroom privileges where ever he might be.

In reviewing these, keep in mind the fact that the Legion is, or can be your organization. Compare these highlights with what other organizations have done or plan to do, then, decide for yourself whether you want to help carry your proportionate share of the load by actively joining and participating in The American Legion.

Boy Scouts Finish Life Saving Course

A Red Cross junior and senior life saving course was recently completed by Boy Scout Troop 213 of Edgeville School.

Six members of the troop completed the intermediate swimming course but did not take the life saving training. Classes were held at Cone YMCA pool with Rox D. Stallings as instructor for the life saving class and Barrie Heitkamp for the swimming course. Both are volunteer instructors.

Senior certificates were awarded to Gene T. Phillips, Wallace E. Brown, Jack F. Gibson, Richard D. Causey, T. D. Smith and Charles Wilson. Junior awards were issued to Don Hepler and David Dickerson.

"Some people go to a psychiatrist slightly cracked, and leave completely broke."—Ben Yee.

Reproduced below is another portion of the Cone Mills booklet "How Much Does It Cost?" First reprint was on June 18. From time to time, The Textorian expects to carry such comparisons from the booklet to give employees some idea of the vast cost involved in upkeep of textile machinery and other equipment.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST?

The answer is "none." For the replacement cost of the picker below you could buy this home

outright and still spend $2,000 on furniture.

(Photograph by Harold M. Lambert)

For Sale . . .

YOURS FOR ABOUT $10,000

$10,000 is a lot of money so if you had the full amount necessary to replace the picker on the right, how much additional money would you need to pay cash for this lovely home?

NONE	$1,000	$5,000	$8,000

$12,000 is the amount it would take today to replace just one picker and Cone Mills owns 163 of them. Their replacement value today would buy 195 of these lovely homes.

CHEERFUL FRIEND—Sam Watkins, watchman at Proximity Plant gate has a cheerful earful for every passer-by. What's more he even gives some people those cute little monkeys he carves from peach seeds, really works of art in their field.

Is It Another Munich?

The headlines on Wednesday morning of this week which read "French, Reds Sign Armistice" no doubt brought a sigh of relief to the Frenchmen who are long tired of the Indochina War. The mothers and other loved ones of French youth must be greatly relieved by the long awaited news.

With this temporary cessation of hostilities we cannot help but see in our imaginary vision, emblazoned across the skies of the world in capital letters, the word "MUNICH."

It is most difficult for a layman to understand even in a small way such a major situation as the great international crisis developed through the Indochina War. Naturally, any sane person would like to see peace throughout the world. We all realize that comparatively small sparks such as existed throughout the Indochina situation could set fires in other directions.

If the armistice and the final settlement in the Indochina situation meant that we had greater assurance for an honorable peace we might receive some comfort from the acts of the French accomplished primarily by the new French leader, Mendes-France, but from what we have been able to learn, the settlement in Indochina is a definite communist victory. It is rather positive that Secretary Dulles and other influential administrative leaders were opposed to the appeasement granted in this case. Naturally, they could not stand out alone when our allies, particularly England, were urging such a settlement even if it meant appeasement.

The French leader set a deadline for what he termed an "honorable peace." In view of the events on Tuesday, Mendes-France will unquestionably not resign; however, we are inclined to believe that his interpretation of "honorable" is somewhat different from ours and that of the average American.

We hate to be gloomy and pessimistic over the cessation of bloodshed and hostilities, but in all sincerity we can find little comfort in the developments in the Indochina situation because we feel that it is only another successful step made by the Communists in their program to spread communism over the entire world.

In the eyes of the Communists, they won the Korean War. They unquestionably now not only feel but will broadcast to the Communists of the world the fact that they have won another great victory, and that their program is progressing according to plan.

Communism can best be halted now and not later. What's done cannot be undone, but the armistice in Indochina means that we must extend our efforts in trying to build up defenses in this country and be better prepared for an offensive move if an occasion arises.

New Headquarters For Cotton Council

Memphis, Tenn.—Immediate construction of an Oscar Johnson memorial building here to serve as permanent headquarters for the National Cotton Council was authorized this week by the membership and trustees of the Oscar Johnson Cotton Foundation.

Long looked to by the leadership of the cotton industry as a means of paying tribute to the Council's founder and first president, the building will be of Southern Colonial architecture, combining red brick exterior with white columns and stone trim. It will be located on a 350-foot tree-studded lot facing North Parkway immediately east of Snowden school.

Under an agreement reached between the trustees and the board of directors of the Council, likewise in session here this week, the Foundation will construct the building at a cost of approximately $400,000, and will lease it to the Council.

Plans call for the contract to be awarded within the next few days, and for occupancy prior to July 1, 1955. The Council, central agency of the six branches of the raw cotton industry, is presently located on two floors of the Empire Building and one floor of Goodwyn Institute, with branch offices in New York, Washington, and Charlotte, N. C.

For Two Divisions

The 36,000-foot Oscar Johnson building will house two of the Council's four program divisions, sales promotion and production and marketing, together with the office of the executive vice-president, field service department, market research, public relations, and accounting sections. The research and foreign trade divisions will continue to make their headquarters in Washington; and a major portion of the Council's advertising activities will continue to be conducted by the New York office.

Traffic Toll Is Shameful

The year 1953 saw more than two million casualties—the worst automobile accident toll in the nation's history—recorded on our streets and highways. This shocking record sets the year aside as a shameful one.

Even worse—except in a few cases where thoughtful people are very much concerned about this mobile slaughter—the totals were recorded without many of us realizing what was happening.

The Travelers Insurance Companies of Hartford, Connecticut, report 38,500 people killed and 2,140,000 injured in 1953. Traffic deaths increased 900 and injuries 50,000 over 1952.

The lessons to be gained from previous statistics continued unheeded in 1953. Excessive speed was the most dangerous driving mistake again last year. Speed killed 13,870 persons and injured 600,000. Three out of four auto accidents happened to passenger cars driving in clear weather on dry roads, and 80 per cent of vehicles involved in fatal accidents were traveling straight ahead. The death toll increased for the fourth consecutive year.

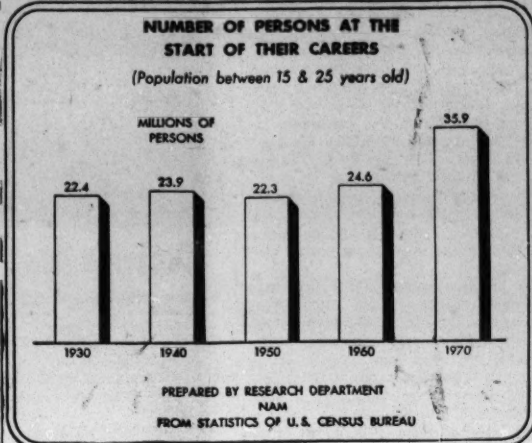

There are hundreds of splendid safety organizations in this country dedicated to safety education. Many insurance firms make efforts in this direction at considerable expense. In hundreds of communities, civic clubs have taken on the job of spreading safety information and education. State and community authorities have spent millions of dollars in an effort to provide safer and better roads and highways. Driver training programs at all age levels are aimed toward safer and saner driving.

State, County, Local and Parkway Police are constantly patrolling streets and highways. More and better engineered thruways are coming off the drawing boards. It appears to us that almost everyone is concerned with this needless slaughter and its accompanying waste of human and property values.

Almost everyone, that is, but the drivers. The problem starts and could ideally end with the drivers. Who are the drivers?

Each one of us knows the answer to that question. Let each one of us ponder these latest grim figures and then determine a proper and safer and saner course of action.

Wallpaper was used in the colonies as early as 1737, but not as we use it. It was suspended against the wall or on wooden frames, like tapestry. These early hangings were made from the cheapest and coarsest rags and woolen stuff, in sheets thirty inches long, pasted together. Patterns were stamped on them by hand, with wooden blocks.

Labor-Force Entrants To Become More Acute In 1960's

The years between a person's 15th and 25th birthdays are usually his place in the economic world. Therefore it is quite significant that the number of persons in this age group will grow by almost 50 percent between 1960 and 1970, after having remained relatively unchanged for 30 years prior to 1960. Problems of absorbing these young people into the economic life of the nation will become much more serious in the 1960's.

Trends in the particular segment of the population which is between 15 and 25 are quite different from trends in the total population. Although the total population of the country grew phenomenally between 1940 and 1950, the number of 15 to 25-year olds actually declined. This was due to the low birth rate in the 1930's, which resulted in a comparatively low number of young people in 1950. By contrast, the unexpectedly high birthrate in the years since World War II means that in 1970 there will be an exceptionally large number of persons between 15 and 25. This explains why the number of people in this age class will increase by almost 50 percent in the decade of the 1960's, while the population as a whole probably increase by less than 15 percent.

Despite the astounding rapidity of our recent population growth we have so far had no great increase in the number of young people for whom we must provide jobs each year. We had better be prepared for a drastic change in this situation after 1960.

The number of persons between 15 and 25 can be forecast with fair accuracy for 1960 and 1970. Most of the individuals who will be in this age group in 1970 have already been born. All that is necessary is to estimate the effect of deaths and migration. The predictions indicated on the chart can be accepted with much greater confidence than forecasts of future total population.

Textorian Interviews Safety Man

The Textorian manager was recently passing the time of day with the Safety Man and just hoping for a sniff of news for a story for the Cone Mills newspaper. What's your advice for Vacation week? she asked.

The Red Cross and the Department of Highway Safety give plenty of good advice, said the Safety Man. If the rest of us heed it, most Cone employees will be back on the job August 2, in better health for their week of vacation.

How about our Accident Prevention Contest? she asked. Is it doing as well as last year? Who has had the least accidents this year up to date?

It's too soon to tell much about it just yet, the Safety Man explained. A number of plants and units have reported no injuries at all during July but some reports may be late. You remember that last year somebody at White Oak got the idea that it was an accident contest instead of an accident prevention contest. They are trying to do better this year, though. So don't expect to find White Oak in the cellar again.

Is your friend John A. Prone going to take a vacation? asked the manager.

He is, said the Safety Man, and I'll tell you some of the things he'll do. While driving he'll pass on blind curves and hills. He'll drive too fast. He'll forget to get his brakes fixed before he leaves and I doubt if the tires on his car are fit for a trip. He'll try to get a whole season's suntan in one day and end up with painful blisters. He'll swim from unprotected beaches; dive into strange waters without testing them for depth. He'll use his pocket knife incorrectly and let it lay around with the blade open, but he won't bother to carry first aid equipment in his car. I hope he'll get back to Cone Mills because we need him—as an example to other. You can be sure that he'll have some 'bad luck' while he is away.

Health For All

Bursitis

"Anyone can do it," the man said. So you painted the living room walls and ceiling yourself. It looked fine, too, but next day you had a painful shoulder that just about ruined all your pride of achievement. You decided, perhaps, that you weren't made for that kind of work, and, in a way, you were right. It's one of the many troubles we made for ourselves when we decided to get up on our hind legs and use our front paws for hands.

Hooked up between your shoulder blade and the big bone of the upper arm is a little muscle with a job that is sometimes too big for it. Its long name—supraspinatus—isn't much help when it has to work all day keeping the arm bone in its socket against the pull of gravity. Holding the arms up and out puts a constant strain on the muscle and its tendon. And every arm movement we make pinches the tendon between the shoulder blade and arm bone.

So you see, it wasn't surprising that the unaccustomed work of painting gave you a painful shoulder. Acute bursitis cures itself quickly, but it can develop into a condition that disables its victims for months or years. We tend to baby the sore shoulder, when the best cure is to keep it moving. Lack of motion may cause adhesions to form, and then the shoulder becomes practically frozen in its socket.

As an exercise for bursitis doctors frequently suggest bending over with the arm relaxed and then swinging it like a pendulum from front to back, side to side, and round and round. You can do this in a bending position even though, standing straight, you couldn't move the arm because of the pain. You may feel foolish, but in a few weeks your shoulder will probably be as good as new.
